

BRANDEIS MARSHALL

Brandeis Marshall, PhD, Principal at Brandeis Marshall Consulting LLC, is a computer science scholar, educator and strategist with 15+ years of experience. Brandeis contributes to the data engineering, data science, and data/computer science education fields. Brandeis Marshall Consulting LLC offers speaking and coaching solutions to identify gaps in your team's data understanding, elevate your team's preparedness in the data space and shape recommendations and practices for timely implementation.

Brandeis is a data science learning and curriculum advisor/trainer and dedicated to broadening representation in the data space. Her lens of infusing social context with data and its implications have inspired others to rethink the role of data from academia, corporate, government and non-profit sectors.
